

Row on 'Royal' cigarette advert

SYDNEY: Cancer experts and anti-smoking groups are demanding the withdrawal of Australian newspaper adverts for Benson & Hedges that show official pictures of the Prince and Princess of Wales and baby William above a giant packet of cigarettes.

Critics are incensed because of the Prince's abhorrence of cigarette smoking. He won't tolerate it in his presence and there are no ash-trays in his car.

Daily Mail 4-4-83